

NAPBS Background Verification Request for Proposal Guide

A Guide for Organizations to submit a Request for Proposal for Background Screening

This Guide was developed for employers and other organizations, such as volunteer groups, to use in creating a Request for Proposal (RFP) for background screening services. The Guide does not cover items pertaining to drug screening, assessments, online applications, or applicant tracking systems.

The Guide was developed by the NAPBS Industry Practices Committee.

Version Date: 9/3/08

How to use this Guide

This Guide was developed to assist organizations with the creation of a Request for Proposal (RFP) for background screening. It can be useful for submitting an RFP to one or more background screening vendors or for a discussion about available services with a selected background screening provider.

Not all questions will be relevant to each organization's needs and the requestor is encouraged to remove any questions not pertaining to your business requirements. If you have a question of interest but one that is not necessarily a requirement, you may wish to indicate this on the specific RFP item. This Guide is not all encompassing and some organizations may need to add other topics or questions.

If your organization has selected a background provider, or has a current relationship with a background provider, this document can be a useful discussion guide to understanding your vendor's capabilities and services. Use this Guide to help your organization understand what can be expected from your background provider

When requesting information from a background screener, provide as much information as possible about your organization and specific needs. This will help the respondents answer questions directly related to your circumstances and will help to them better assess their ability to meet your needs. Be sure to remove any items that are not needed by your organization.

<XYZ Co.> is used to designate the requesting organization's name.
